Chapter 340: The Abyssal War Begins

The awakening of Xytheron, the Abyssal Devourer, sent shockwaves across the multiverse. The Void Gates multiplied, spilling hordes of Abyssal Shades into vulnerable realms. Each shade carried with it the taint of pure chaos, corrupting everything it touched. The Divine Triad, their forces, and their allies prepared for an all-out war to protect existence itself.

The Divine Triad's Response

In the Absolute Realm, the Divine Triad convened. Sung Jin-Woo, towering at 30 meters, sat on his throne in Umbra Citadel, his divine jewels glowing with immense power. Beside him were Ashborn and Sung Su-Ho, their celestial and draconic auras filling the chamber.

Ashborn: “The Abyssal Devourer is not a threat we can underestimate. Its corruption spreads faster than light.”
Sung Su-Ho: “Our armies are prepared. But this... this is unlike anything we’ve faced before.”

Sung Jin-Woo raised his hand, silencing the discussion. His voice, deep and commanding, resonated throughout the citadel.
Sung Jin-Woo: “The multiverse has thrived under our protection. We will not allow this darkness to undo everything we’ve built. Deploy all forces. Leave no realm unguarded.”

He turned to his fourteen clones, each stationed in different domains.
Sung Jin-Woo: “Strengthen your realms and prepare for war. The Void Gates must be sealed.”

Mobilizing the Divine Armada

The Divine Armada, already a force of unparalleled might, was expanded further. Sung Jin-Woo infused his divine power into newly forged warships and weapons. The 100,000 Divine Warships, 50 million Divine Armored Mechs, and centillions of materialized shadow soldiers were now equipped with anti-chaos technology, capable of nullifying the Abyssal Shades’ corruption.

Ashborn led the Apostles of God and Heavenly Soldiers, while Sung Su-Ho commanded the Dragonkins and Fiery Dragon Lords.

Battle Across the Realms

The first major assault occurred in the Demon Realm, where Xytheron unleashed an army of Abyssal Demons. Sung Su-Ho personally led the defense, wielding his Draconic Divine Spear. His four dragon wings glowed with radiant power as he annihilated wave after wave of invaders.

Meanwhile, Ashborn defended the Planets of the Apostles, his ten celestial wings blazing as he rained divine light upon the chaos forces. His celestial sword, Luminaria, cut through the Abyssal Shades with precision.

Sung Jin-Woo took the most dangerous task: entering the Void itself. With his All-Seeing Eyes, he tracked Xytheron's core and began the journey to confront the Abyssal Devourer directly.

The Fourteenth Clone's Progress

In the Chaos World, the fourteenth clone coordinated the efforts of the seven emissaries. Each emissary rallied the forces of their respective realms, ensuring the Void Gates were contained.

The Demon Monarch, Esil Radiru, stood side by side with the emissary of the Demon Realm, using the power of the Purifier Tree to cleanse her corrupted kin. The other monarchs followed suit, proving that even former enemies could unite against a common threat.

Xytheron's Revelation

Deep in the Void, Sung Jin-Woo faced Xytheron's projection—a towering mass of swirling chaos with countless eyes and tendrils. The Abyssal Devourer's voice was a cacophony of madness.
Xytheron: "Shadow God, you are but a speck before the Abyss. Your light will be consumed, and your multiverse will fall."

Sung Jin-Woo's reply was calm but filled with authority.
Sung Jin-Woo: "You speak as if you have already won. But you'll find I am no ordinary god."

Sung Jin-Woo unleashed his Shadow Dominion, flooding the Void with an ocean of shadows. The clash of powers caused ripples across all realms, with even the Divine Triad feeling the intensity of the battle.

To Be Continued in Chapter 341...